White Lotus Group Announces New Key Hire

Jay Kline joins the team as the Vice President of Business Development

Omaha, Neb.—January 14, 2019— White Lotus Group, an Omaha-based vertically integrated real estate development firm, is pleased to announce the addition of Jay Kline to the team as the vice president of business development.

Kline brings over a decade of experience to White Lotus Group through his previous roles at LEO A DALY as a member of their business development team focused on reinforcing the success of the company's Federal Program. Prior to this role, Kline oversaw the company's business interests in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, and after a successful three years overseas, Jay came home and became LEO A DALY'S Small Business Program Manager.

"Over the last several years, I've been more and more impressed by the quality and relevancy of White Lotus Group's project execution across a broad range of property types," says Kline. "Many of these developments have become extremely important investments in some of the more under-served areas of our community, and I find it enormously invigorating that I'm now getting an opportunity to effect positive change with this outstanding team in the city I love."

As the vice president of business development Kline will maintain and manage the company's relationships to ensure expectation-exceeding results while identifying opportunities locally and regionally for the company to grow

"We are extremely pleased to welcome Jay and his extensive expertise to the team," says Arun Agarwal, White Lotus Group CEO and Owner. "We have been very fortunate to have experienced such positive growth over the last year, and know that bringing Jay to the team will only add to both our clients' and our company's future successes."

Kline is an active SAME member and is currently the Young Members Chair for the Omaha Post Board. He also sits on both Benson High School's Design Academy's Advisory Board and UNO's International Studies Community Advisory Board.
